The event aimed to express gratitude and solidarity with the armed forces by celebrating Raksha Bandhan, a traditional Indian festival symbolizing the bond between soldiers and civilians.

The NSS Unit members arrived at MCEME, Thirumalgiri, and collaborated with the Samskruthi Foundation team to set up stalls and arrangements for the event. Volunteers distributed Rakhis, traditional sacred threads symbolizing protection and love, to soldiers stationed at the location. The Rakhis were tied to their wrists as a mark of respect and appreciation for their service. Members of the NSS Unit engaged in conversations and interactions with the soldiers, expressing gratitude and exchanging goodwill messages. Additionally, various cultural programs and performances were organized to entertain and uplift the spirits of the soldiers.

The NSS Unit's participation in the "Rakhi for Soldiers" event organized by Samskruthi Foundation on August 30, 2023, was a meaningful gesture to honour and appreciate the valiant efforts of the armed forces. It fostered a sense of unity and gratitude while acknowledging the soldiers' selfless service to the nation.
